

ELDER IS RECONCILED.

He Is Not Afraid of Woman Suffrage Now.

SAYS THE PARTY WILL NOT LOSE

Any Votes on Account of Endorsing It, and Expects to Catch Republicans—Other Political News.

"I guess woman suffrage is all right," said P. P. Elder to a JOURNAL reporter last evening. Mr. Elder did so much to defeat the suffrage plank in the Populist convention. "When I went home from the convention and studied over the matter, I came to the conclusion that I had overestimated the effect the endorsement would have. I find a great many Democrats who say, 'Oh, well, that doesn't pledge us any way,' and the foreigners I was so much afraid of, do not take the action at all seriously. I do not believe it is going to hurt us much, and it may help us some. Now there are lots of old line Republicans, like Barney Kelly, who are red hot for women suffrage, and who are disgruntled with the Republicans, and some of them are going to come to us. I don't mean Kelly will turn Populist—there is no hope for him. I would be prepared for anything if he took such a step, but there are others who are not so far gone, who will come to us.

"I figure that the Republicans will lose 15,000 to 20,000 votes on the prohibition and suffrage question, but of course some of them will go to the Prohibitionists."

"I understand," cautiously ventured the reporter, "that you had or was about to turn over to the Republicans."

"You don't mean that?"

"I must have been a joke. I do not see why I—any—fool would tell such a fool nonsense about me. No, I am a Populist. Of course I have had a fight down in my county. The fellows came down there and tried to fix things, but I won the fight and came to the state convention. They thought I was against Governor Lewelling and I would have rather seen some one else nominated, but since he won it is all right.

"As far as the sentiment in the state is concerned it looks to me as if the tide was turning to the Populists and that we will win in spite of Democratic opposition. Over my, in spite of all his eloquence and his big name, I am not making votes. He will rather have a tendency to repel them and the fellows who won't like him will come to us."

"How do you like the Populist nominee for congress in the second district?"

"I do not know him and so I can say nothing about his nomination."

"Why did you not receive the nomination?"

"I am satisfied that I might have been nominated if I had attempted to secure the nomination but I did not want it—I would have spent lots of money and gone into the campaign to win."

WHERE GERMAN LEAGUE STANDS.

A Member Says It Will Not Vote Any Straight Ticket.

The German American league of Kansas will play an important part in the present state campaign.

At the state convention of the league held in Topeka during the session of the Republican state convention, arrangements were for the calling of another state convention, to be held in Topeka September 2.

When the first state convention was held none of the parties had completed the nominations of their state tickets, and the league could not take any definite action as to where its strength should go in the coming election.

P. H. Weber, member of the executive committee of the league, talking with a JOURNAL reporter, said: "It is now pretty well understood that we will not support all any one ticket although the Populist members of our organization are making an effort to get us to support the Populist ticket, but we won't do that. We said we would not support any party that is pledged to prohibition or woman suffrage, and the Populists having put a woman suffrage plank in their platform they can't expect us to vote their ticket."

"Will you vote the Republican ticket?"

"One thing is certain, we won't vote for Troutman for lieutenant governor. We are for resubmission and we won't vote for anyone who represents either prohibition or suffrage. We won't vote for Furbeck. We can't stand him. It would have pleased us if the Democrats had nominated Overmyer for lieutenant governor, so that we could have given Troutman a hard hit by voting the Democratic ticket, but I suppose we will vote for Sid Cooks."

"Some of us would like to vote for Dawes for attorney general, but he is said to be inclined towards the prohibitionists. The Populists tell us Little has not done anything that we should fear, but that isn't satisfactory, we want to vote for men who represent our cause."

"We will all vote for the men selected by the state convention in September. Locally we will endorse Col. Veale for member of the legislature and Harry Safford as county attorney is satisfactory to us. He is a liberal citizen and as good a man as we could ask to have nominated, that anybody wants to vote for."

WILLARD HAS BUT ONE LEG.

The Populist Candidate in the Second District an Ex-Railroad Man.

Frank A. Willard, the Populist candidate for congress in the Second district, has only one leg. Willard was a Santa Fe brakeman a few years ago and lost his leg in the service of the road. He is now a contractor and was elected mayor of Argentine as a citizens' candidate.

Chairman Breidenbach says a one-legged railroad man is about as good a vote getter in these times as the one-armed or one-legged old soldier.

Willard was a peace arbitrator during the strike troubles and did all in his power to persuade the men to keep the peace.

Second District Committee.

The Republican congressional committee of the Second district has been organized by the election of J. N. Harrison, better known as "Curly," chairman and J. O. Effe of Kansas City as secretary. Curly Harrison, who was chairman of the Franklin county delegation in the convention which nominated Judge Miller for congress, has filled the offices of sheriff and treasurer of Franklin county.

LYONS NOT GUILTY.

Settled With the O. R. C. Yesterday and Says He Was Ready to Long Ago.

The general grievance committee of the Order of Railway Conductors of the Santa Fe system closed its session here yesterday and the members returned to their various homes.

The members present were as follows: W. F. Wright, Newton; William O'Connor, Pueblo; G. W. Thornberg, Denver; W. W. Alcott, Las Vegas; J. B. Roberts, Leadville; E. Craig, Colorado Springs; J. D. Miner, Arkansas City; C. L. Gilbert, Leadville; Chas. Sullivan, Chanute; H. F. Griffith, Albuquerque; R. H. McElwain, Dodge City; G. W. Riley, Emporia; Thomas Moore, Argentine; C. L. Short and Richard Wilson, Topeka.

This was the regular biennial meeting of the committee and the following new officers were elected: C. L. Short, Topeka, general chairman; George Thornberg of Denver, assistant general chairman; Richard Wilson of Topeka, general secretary.

At this meeting the committee settled up with Treasurer J. W. Lyons, the Emporia conductor, whose connection with the order was severed in the late strike. He held of the order's money $111.91, according to the order's account. His friends say that the amount is $117.16, and that when the members of the order demanded it of him he had it in the Bank of Emporia and was ready to order a check to be drawn on it.

But as his check from the bank did not come with the other Emporia checks, he concluded that they were trying to have the road hold it back so they could bring action with a view to hurting his character, so he concluded to await developments. On these grounds, and because he held a bill against them, Lyons refused to turn over the funds in his possession until the affair could be settled. There was no attempt on his part, he says, to embezzle anything. He could have settled any time the order was ready to order a claim there is nothing in the story that they had intended to have him arrested. Lyons' friends claim to know, however, that the members of the order had intended to garnish his wages due from the company and that the money was held back at the request of the order, to compel him to settle.

Mr. Lyons was in Topeka yesterday and settled with the order, after first receiving his pay from the railroad. The order allowed him $61.91 for his services and he paid the balance. It is said that the original amount of Lyons' bill was $125.

The affair resulted in the abolition of the office of treasurer, and National Treasurer Daniels of Cedar Rapids, Ia., will hereafter hold the funds.

Fire in a Shed.

The fire department was called to 207 East Tenth street at 8:40 this morning by a telephone alarm. The fire was in a shed owned by C. C. Trimmer. The fire extended to the barn adjoining owned by Mrs. A. Gray. Both buildings were saved with nominal loss. Chief Wilmarth thinks the fire was the work of bad boys in the neighborhood.

Ariz Wants to Organize a Secret Working-men's Society.

Ex-Adjutant General Artz received his first set back at the hands of the Populists last night at the Populist league.

He attended the meeting and listened with some impatience to the other speakers but to no one called for him. "His glory had departed" and he sat deserted and alone. When the last speaker had finished Artz could contain himself no longer and he arose and was recognized by the chairman. He announced that there could be a meeting next Sunday to organize a secret society of laboring men "for the time has come" he added "to shed the last drop of blood, if necessary in the cause of the laboring men."

He discussed the strike and the wrongs of the laboring men.

When he sat down the chairman J. M. Harrington said: "I understand that the gentlemen simply made an announcement of a meeting and I want to say that this league has nothing whatever to do with it."

The principal speaker was J. O. Langdon, ex-Methodist preacher and book agent. J. M. Senter, clerk of the board of railroad commissioners, spoke on the questions of finance, of course advocating the free coinage of silver.

The committee on arrangements for the Populist rally reported the amount expended as $130, of which all but $9 has been raised.

A GREAT SEND-OFF.

Atchison People Can't Say Anything Too Good for Sells.

Sells Bros' circus was at Atchison last before yesterday. The Globe says: "Those people who go to a circus to 'take their children,' whom they usually carry in their arms to avoid buying a ticket, were disappointed yesterday. Children were all made to pay by the Sells Bros., and it did no good to carry in a fourteen-year-old baby and pretend that he was so small that he could not walk. The circus was one of the best ever seen in Atchison, notwithstanding the high price, and a large and better than when it was here last, charging 50 cents admission. There is nothing better on the road than Sells' show; it is fully as large as the Barnum or Forepaugh shows, and fully as good, although this year charging only one-half the usual admission. The best feature we have ever seen in a circus was the performing seals, and it was entirely new."

McCall and Snider.

The following dispatch from Topeka, Kas., says the National Underwriter, of Hartford, Conn., appears in a number of western daily newspapers:

"Superintendent Snider of the Kansas insurance department has notified the New York Life insurance company that he will begin an examination of its affairs on June 30. At the suggestion of President McCall of the company, Superintendent Snider has invited the insurance departments of Missouri, Texas, Kentucky, Massachusetts and New York to assist in the examination. This action, Superintendent Snider says, is taken on the strength of rumors which have been floating around for some time regarding the company. It is understood that Superintendent Snider will examine all the other big companies in the east while he is at it."

A copy of this dispatch having been sent by a western agent to President McCall, he wired immediately Charles A. Taylor, assistant superintendent of the Kansas insurance department at Topeka, to this effect:

"I received a clipping from a Kansas City paper through one of our agents, and it appears that a telegram was sent from Topeka that Superintendent Snider had originated the proposed investigation of the company, because of rumors that were in circulation about it. The statement, no matter by whom made, is an absolute falsehood, and no one knows that better than Superintendent Snider. Rumors of this kind, when circulated by rival companies, I can understand, but when they are sent out from Topeka, it leaves me in a position of wondering who falsified the facts. I wish the superintendent would make inquiry about it, and correct the false statement at an early date."
